Tumour, stroke, superbugs... nothing can stop Terry's 700km trek

19 August 2019

Image being a young dad, in the prime of the life... and it all comes to a screeching halt.

Terry Mitropolous is walking from Adelaide to Melbourne - via Ballarat - after his life was turned upside down at age 36.

The successful businessman discovered he had a brain tumour, which led to complications including a superbug infection and eventually a stroke that claimed his eyesight, hearing and ability to walk.

Now aged 46, he has regained only some of what he lost - and for what he has, he is eternally thankful.

Armed with a glass-half-full attitude and a rock-solid faith, Terry left Adelaide on August 17 and should arrive in Ballarat around September 18-19.

He says he knows what it's like to be in the deepest despair - and how will be fundraising for mental health.
